flag of Com. Montgoment, commander-in chief of the U. S. squadron in the Pacific, arrived at Panama on the 5th inst., in nineteen days from Velparaiso, stopping at the Chincha Islands. The Panama Star & Herald says:—

The United Steam frigues Lancaster had not arrived at Velparaiso, although out upwards of St days, and Commodore Biontgoment having received orders to return to Panama immediatory, remained only feur days in Velparaiso, and transferred his flag to the Levant. The steam frigate Merimane was to sail from Velparaiso for the United States about the lat instant. The British seamship A cert was at Velparaiso. The United States about the lat instant. The British seamship A cert was at Velparaiso. The United States aloop Vandada arrived there on the 10th of Out-borr, and sailed again on the 11th, for the United States. During the short stay of Commedore Montgomen in Velparaiso, the Intendente Sanva-Ba, visited the Merrimac and Levant, and when the latter vessel was ready for see, he very courteously sent a steamer slongside to two her out of the narbor. The French Admiral, in a new screw steamer, is expected out in December. The Levant touched at the Courtaintine, were Saily expected at Velparaiss. The new French Admiral, in a new screw steamer, is expected out in December. The Levant touched at the Chinchas Islands on the 25th; she left nine British and doutteen American vessels leading there. The British ship-of-war Amethyst had been there and returned to Callan.

The wheling schooner E. A. Luce, Caut. Riviax, arrived at Panama on the 3d inst, with 375 barrels of the while action that the passagene, information had been received of the defeat of ex. Govern of Calvo, by the revolutionata, at M. mope, under Gerera in Risto. The action task place on the 5lat of Octob r, and lasted about thirty hours. Nisto had taken passageno of Mompor, which gives him the control of the Magdalena river. Carthagen was still coved to foreign commerce.

The matter at issue between the republics of Salvador and Honduras had been amicably arranged through the good offices of Gustemala. The election for Freedent of Sa vador was to take place on the 9th inst. Gen. Barmos, the acting President, was a candidate, but his election was not expected. In Costa Ros Dr. MONTRALEGER had been nominated Provisional President.

Several of the Jewish citizens of Washington having written a letter to Mayor Benner, asking if they would be allowed to keep their places of business open upon the first of the week, or the Christian Sabbath, the Mayor sent them the following reply:

them the following reply:

Washington Citt, Nov. 18th, 1820.
Gentlemen: In reply to your inquiry, I have to say that a law of Maryland, which Congress has extended over this District, expressly forbids "any bodily labor on the Lord's day, commonly caled Sunday," under pensity.

That day has b-come consecrated over the civilite dworld for more than eighteen hundred years, and the best interests of morality, of society, and of humanity require that it should be kept "holy," so-secording to the sacred injunction.

In obedience to the law and my own conticions of duty, I shall feel it incumbent to exert my official authority in insisting that all "places of business" shall be closed on Sunday, and in requiring every pensity for its violation to be rigidly enforced. Respectfully, your obelient servant,

James G. Barrer, Mayor.

A detachment of U. S. sailors sailed on Monday in the steamer Atlantic, for Aspinwall, where they will be transferred to the commander-in chief of the Home squadron, on board the flagship Rosnoka, for distribution among the vessales of the fleet needing reinforcements. The sailors were accompanied by Lieuts. TAYLOR, BRADFORD and Master MODAEBOUSE.

In obscience to instructions from Washington, the new steam gunboat Iroqueis, recently detailed by the Navy Department as flag-ship of of the Mediterranean squadron, has been formally put in commission at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. A crew of sailors and a guard of marines, numbering 140 persons, are usefer orders on board. The Iroqueis is equipped with provisions and stores for 12 months. She is the first steam gunboat ever constructed here for the Navy of the U. S., and the third of the new gunboa s which has been commissioned, the Narragensett and Wyoming having preceded her, on active service. The Iroqueis was put on the stocks in September, 1858, and laur ched in April, 1859. She is 225 feet torg, 33 feet wide, 1.010 tons burden, and carries 4 medium size 32-pounders, two eleven-inch, and or e nine inch gun. Her machinery consists of two enguses, with cytiners 54 inches in diameter and 28 inches stroke, hav-

The trial of the steamer Water With having proved successful, that vessel has been ordered to join the Home Squadron forthwith. She will go to the caset of Caoa. Chief-Enginear Krachas returned from Erie and submitted his report of the Michigan. That vessel will need new boilers, but otherwise, her machinery is in good condition.

Another Letter from Dr. Livingstone. The following interesting letter from the cele-brated African explorer was received by Sir G. MER GRET, on the morning of his departure among the Mangango of the Shire and Shirwa valleys—Ill spin and weave it. Tuese are the latitudes which I have always pointed out as the cotton and sugar lands. They are pre-eminently so; but such is the dishiner stedness of some peop e, that labor is experted to Bourbon instead of being emisloyed here. The only trade the people have is that of alaws; and the only symptoms of impudance we met was from a party of Balana slave-traiter; but they changed their deportment instantly on hearing that we were E gilsh, and not Fortuguese. There are no Maravi at or near Stirew, they are all west of the Solra, so that this lake can cancely be called Lake Maravi—the Partuguese kee w nothing of it; but the minister who claimed (blue book for 1857), the honer of first traverso; the African continent for two black men—with Portuguese rames—must explain why they did not cross Surrive It lies some 40 or 50 miles on each side of the latitude of Mczambique. They came to Tue only, and lacked at least 400 miles of Mozambique. We go back to Shirwa in July, and may make a push for N', juyze.

A letter from Constantinople in the Gazatle du it a mair of the nead or the condemned was finjured, was stuck up at the gate of the palace of the Grand Vizier, and another of a like kind at that of his mus-chard or counsellor. A similar menace was also addressed direct to the Sultan.

A man arrived at the palace with a basket of valuable presents. A chamberlain exactined the presents, and found among them a seated letter.
He opened and read it, and then gave orders that the bearer of the besket should be arrested, but he had disappeared. The letter, which was e uched in very respectful terms, warned the Sultan that it was of urgent impost ance, in order to prevent the horrors of a general rising—1 to exercise elemency to the conspirators; 2, to dismiss all the ministers; 3, to put down abuses and frauds; and 4, to reform the finances of the State."

Another letter from the Turkish capital save:—"The sentence of death pronounced on Hussairs Pacha, one of the principals in the late conspiracy in Turkey, has been commuted into 2 years banishment. It is said that this general, who took so glorious a part in the deferce of Kars, has solicited permission te pass his term of exite in France, where he would be able to follow up his studies in unitary art."

Advices from Constantinople to the 26th ult., state that the Grand Vizier insists, in the first place, that the culprits in the late conspiracy should not be executed. To this the Suitan has recently given his consent. The sympathes of the population continue to be in favor of the accused. The Grand Vizier denands complete reforms, and wishes that the chief refigious dignivaries should contribute largely to the public taxes, and that the Suitan should sacrifice onethird of his own revenue.

Surviving "Women of the Revelection,"

The following is a list of the surviving widows in New England who were pen-foned under the first eet that was passed by Congress, viz., July 4th, 1836, for the service of their hushands in the revolutionary war. To cutifle them to a pension the act required that the marriage about have taken place prior to the completion of their husband's services in that war. It is remarkable that in searly all of them they applied for and received their pensions up to the 4th of March last, the date of the jast return; and still more so that, in several case, they should be living 84 years after their marriage, and have enjoyed their country's bounty for 88

Horrible Demostic Tragety.

The Springfield, Mass., Republican gives the following particulars of an attempt to murder a wife in Southwick, Mass., alluded to in our talegraphic dispatches:

On Thursday afternoon, the 19th inst., a daughter of Hasar Hotcoms, of Southwick upon returning home from set ool about 5 o'clock, found her father and mother, whom she had left at noon, about from home, and the house vacant. Supposing that they had gone to a remote part of the town on a visit, she passed the night, unsuspiciously, with a neighboring relative. On Friday morning, a neighbor calling at the nonse about 8 o'clock, was attracted by the groans of some person in the cellar. Upon going into at the nouse about 8 o'clock, was attracted by the groams of some person in the cellar. Upon going into the cellar, the wife of Holozoms was found lying in one corner, weltering in blood and mearly somecess. Upon her head were found five or six drazful wounds, the scalp being form and iscerated, and a piece of it found upon the cellar floor. At a distance of it found upon the cellar floor. At a distance of about two rods from Mrs. Holozoms was found a large club, resemblar g a piece of scantiling, with traces of bloody hands upon one end, and marks of gore and bits of hair upon the other. Upon examining the bed-room of the parties, the clothes worn by Holozom, the husband, the day previous, were found upon the floor, with blood upon the shirt and pants; indicating that he mundered his wife, as he supposed, and then changed his clothes and fed.

Garibaldi and Victor Emanuel.

A correspondent of the London Daily News in a letter cated Cesena, October 27, says:

This morning, before leaving Rimini, I had a long interview with General Gasmaldt, who had just arrived there from Belogna. I was greatry pleased to find that the announcement of the peace signed last week at Zorich had not abaken that indemitable faith which the gallant leader has felt in the triumph of the Italian causs from the beginning of the restinant movement. In a scepting the command of the Tucan army, and the second of the army of the Central Issian league, Gasmaldr gave he would not reship cross the frontier of the Papal deminions, or do anything which could fartish a pretext to European diplemacy for thefering in the affairs of this cuntry. From what I could gather in our rates long conversation, I have no doubt that Gasmaldr meson to keep his word as he has always done. It strikes me, however, that if he is kept at the head of his army, which is almost to a man composed of the revolutionary element of those provinces, a day will perhaps come when he will be obliged to take the lead of the revolution, should Kings and Emperors play false with him.

A Paris correspondent says:... 'It is said that the interview between the King of Sardinia and Ganeral Gasmal Dir, which various tolegrams have announced, was not the most salishactory. According to this secount, Gasmald decreased frankly to the King that Italy was betrayed, and that he should put himself at the head of the revolution; and Virros Ewanus replied that he hoped that he would not commit such an absundity, but if he did so, there was no alternative but to employ force to prevent it. It is also again stated that the French Government has received favorable dispatches from the Duke De Gasmaour, at Rome, and that the Holy Father had announced to the Duke that after the insurgents in the Romegue have returned to their allegiance, which he presumes they will do after the restoration of the Grand Dukes, he will do after the restoratio

The Abominations of Fashlors.

A correspondent of the Dayton Religious Telescepe, the organ of the Unicel Brothron Church, is much exercised at the prevalence of some of the fashlors of the present day. In regard to wearing the beard, after attempting to refute all the arguments urged in fayor of the tolerance of that appendage, he says:

To my mind, is savers of barbarism, and a lack of etvinzation. To see ministers of the gespel set, in time of worship, and tag and pull at their beards, like a Yankee maid milking a goast, is perfectly ridiculous, and is incompatible with their calling.

Shawi wearing is thus disposed of:

The same evil occurs in ministers of the gospel wearing shawls; and the reader will suffer me to remind him that these volgar fashlors, as a general thing, take their origin in any about houses of ill-face. Hence the black leg wears a shawl, naxt comes the inserts to sell them). Sext comes the inserts, for it is his interest to sell them). The population of Mexico is about seven millions, in but one million of which does white blood predominate. Six millions are Ladians, few of whom are Christians, and the greater part of whom have never heard of Christianity. It is scarcely strenge that a country with such a population fails in every attempt to rise to a condition of that order which nothing but universal civilization can fully sustain.

Dr. Drxon, the Roman Cathelic Primate of all Ireland, has issued a pastoral letter, in which he affirms that a great act of spollation is contemplated in the way of departing the Pope of his temporal dominions, and that calumnies of all sorts are heaped upon his Government by enemies who are becoming every day more powerful. At present, by way of remedy for such a condition of things, the Primate only asks for the prayers of the Esithful in Ireland, but be hints that it may hereafter be necessary to send subscriptions to the Holy Esther to enable him to support those soldiers that will "defend his rights against rebel hordes."
